Encinitas, CA (prHWY.com) July 19, 2010 - SearchBug Inc. announces SearchBug.com's new unlimited access people finder and data verification subscription services. Four unlimited access plans provide those needing to frequently run data and people searches, such as financial institutions, private investigators, credit and collections agencies, and even the general public, with access to four levels of tools to suit their needs.

"Our new unlimited people search subscriptions really add value for heavy users," said Noah Wieder, CEO of SearchBug Inc. "If someone needs to run more than 12 premium people searches monthly, for example, then the premium records subscription at $19.97 per month is a really great value as opposed to a regular rate of $1.97 per premium people search for a name, address, or phone number."

The comprehensive collection of people finder plus search and verification services at SearchBug.com can be purchased a-la-carte for infrequent users or via prepaid plans for businesses with multiple users. The new unlimited access plans benefit frequent users giving them access to one of four packages of people search tools on a monthly or yearly basis.

The Research Tools unlimited access plan is the most basic including a phone identification service, a text message sending tool, and verification of mailing, IP, and email addresses. The People Directory plan adds on unlimited access to published names, addresses, and phone numbers; dates of birth; marital status; and homeowner status. The Premium Records plan adds on unlimited searches for death records and unpublished, unlisted, and historical information within public records. Finally, the Criminal Records plan includes all services of the previous plans as well as access to approximately 200 million state and county criminal records that often include charge and case details, disposition, and important dates.

Each plan also includes upgrade options to add on certain search tools from the next biggest plan. Business Registration requires a five-step process while individual users can sign up with a quick one step access. Various and payment plans are also available.

Geared toward business users, SearchBug.com also gets a lot of individual users, who work as independent contractors or use the system to locate family or friends, check up on neighbors, screen tenants, or do background checks for nannies. Basic services - including published phone number and address searches, Social Security number verification, and access to death records - are free. Other searches offered by SearchBug.com range in price and include personal and business background checks, marriage and divorce records, driver's licenses, property records, professional license verifications, credit checks, and more.

"There are lots of small, independent people-search websites, but I have yet to find one as robust as SearchBug as far as reporting and user capabilities," Wieder said. "Our system is fast, reliable, secure and easy to use."
