
Proxy1Media Donates Cloths and Money to Red Cross/South FL. Chapter.

The staff at Proxy1Media take time from our weekend to give back to needy families by donating some time, cloths and money. We encourage you to help those that are less fortunate with some of life's basic necessities.

Boca Raton, FL (prHWY.com) March 7, 2011 - Proxy1Media's staff sees the positive results that the Red Cross has for those less fortunate and we like taking our unused items to them for passing along.

Proxy1Media's CEO Dave Saitta mentions, "We like seeing our work and donated funds going to those that really need it. I believe many of us are caught up in a designer world putting too much value on what we wear versus who we really are because we should never let Brand Names Define us."

Proxy1Media is South Florida's choice for Online Marketing consultation. To find out more about Proxy1Media.com please contact us directly or review what some of our clients are saying about us here: Proxy1Media .

When and if you have time extra time, money or material items that others can use please think twice before throwing them out by donating them to centers like the American Red Cross as seen here:
