This industry distinction is based on Investment Advisor magazine's survey in which registered representatives like Jacob shared their feedback on issues that are important to their clients.

There are many reasons why Jacob remains affiliated with the best independent broker-dealer in the nation, including:

 Clients who choose Jacob Warren as their financial professional are assured total independence. Jacob Warren is free to affiliate with any broker-dealer. He remains with Woodbury because it allows him to focus on his clients' needs, as opposed to instilling quotas or allowing him to only sell select products.

 Efficiently and securely processing transactions. Ensuring that transactions are processed quickly and securely stored by the clearing firm is of utmost importance to Jacob Warren. One of the reasons why Woodbury continues to win the Broker-Dealer of the Year award is attributed to its control systems and resources. For example, today's clients expect 24/7 access to information, including their policies and holdings. They want to be alerted to opportunities, plus rely on reports to help them understand their financial situation and options. Above all, they want their information to be secure.
