harlequins enigma got to a standstill recently in mid 2017, where he was bullied while making his compositions at home. he therefore got to the point where he thought about quitting music due to violence & pain. the reasons for his words were mostly mentally & contained vicious attacks on himself in his day routines, & left him little space to breathe. harlequins enigma ended 2017 with the growing young album release. according to åge riisnes, he had help on the album & barely saw the album through because of bullying. the album though do stand out with a remix of dark aqua, a remaster of fruit circle, the tattering norm doveboys version, mental floss at owl hoot station, outcast & additionally vortex in a fine master amongst other tracks. the result is pretty great. a modern style compilation were also put together this year called the head hunted (the great brain race). also the year saw the release of catmint's twin sister called air palette, a jazz release. some outstanding stuff were produced in the period 2013-2016 which was his comeback years after leaving music for a bit in april 2010.

harlequins enigma was formed in 2008. they had involvment with maniacs of noise, vangelis, tangerine dream while edgar lived, klaus schulze, kitaro, jan garbarek, chick corea, dave weckl, kate bush & other artists. much mentoring were a blessed fact in these years. from edgar froese, klaus schulze, kitaro, vangelis, sara jensen, jan garbarek, king diamond, wendy carlos, sara q & others.

åge feels like the facebook generation of 2010 to 2018 has been a big nightmare in the making of show off movies & moral, & feel societies are affected by it. the 1997 series big brother which sort of took over the entertainment on tv. with reality shows. seems like a good idea for them but is truly not. back to the roots with entertainment in general would teach people over again to enjoy different kinds. at this rate & the future that is coming it could be predictable that terror & gunabuse will cause more show offs to be born. åge riisnes perticular recall the manchester episode with ariana grande & think that the offspring in the world is affected by certain elements for instance our digital medias.
